PathTracker

Pathtracker survey calculation program is by far the easiest software to train new Directional Drillers. Experienced Directional Drillers will find it very easy to learn and use.

Tools are smartly placed in taskbar right where you would expect them to be. Not a lot of fluff with this software….just straight up directional drilling and anti-collision for the professional Directional hand.

Personally I like the target window that allows for multiple targets and projection from any survey station. Extrapolating ahead to targets with multiple data points allows the user to plan to targets, edit as targets change without continually deleting & re-entering

PathTracker

I have been using this software since the mid 1990's & have purchased every version along the way. This latest version has the best graphing package yet!

I like that the graphs are completely customizable, scalable & easy to create. You can zoom in on one small section of your well or look at it as a whole. Re-draw feature allows user to keep graphs open in the background and redraw any time..

Support from Pathtracker has always been great and they always welcome suggestions from users on what changes and improvements that they would like to see.
